Car Enters Residence,
Bruises Two Children

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Unable to halt their machine at the end of a street, two motion picture actresses, Lucie Gomez, 26, and Sally Winters, 21, drove over a sidewalk early today in a residence, knocked two sleeping children out of bed and wrecked the furniture in two rooms. The men told the police they were returning from work when the accident happened.

The accident occurred at Russell and Western avenues and was caused by a "blind" corner, according to the story told the police by the girls. As the machine was turned quickly into the street the girls lost control of it, they spun, and it jumped the curb, crashing into the home of John R. R. The children were unhurt but suffered slight bruises. Gomez and Miss Winters were flying by glass.

DUBUQUE, Ia., May 1.—Clarice Smith and Harold Cosley, young men, are being held in connection with the death of Theresa Esserknecht, pretty girl, who died in a hospital today from injuries received a short time before she leaped from a car. Another girl, Esther Denny, also died, but escaped unhurt. Smith, at the wheel, did not stop for the girls leaped. Both men were arrested following a long chase.

Complications On Enforcing Prohibition

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, May 1.—The enforcement branch of the government was almost down today in the morass of complications arising from the supreme court's interpretation of the liquor laws.

Officials who wrestled with the task of framing new rules and regulations declared ruefully that the court's decisions made the laws clear enough, but added immeasurably to the difficulties of enforcement.

These outstanding facts confronted officials today in the enforcement of the new law. First—The three-mile limit has been generally turned into the great American bar line beyond which smugglers, bootleggers and keepers of floating saloons, may ply their trade unmolested by American authorities.

Second—Veritable armadas of smuggling boats may gather just over the three-mile line and play hide-and-seek with American patrols, flooding the coast with liquor where they can.

Third—Foreign ships may be coming into American waters anything except medicinal liquor, despite the fact the laws of at least three countries, France, Italy and Spain, require steamship owners to furnish ration tickets for crews.

Fourth—Violation of these laws by foreigners renders their vessels liable to seizure and confiscation by the American government—a proceeding filled with undreamed-of international complications.

Fifth—Strict inspection of incoming foreign vessels at the three-mile line in port is impossible. It would take a young army to attempt it, and congress is unlikely to spend that much money.

Sixth—The American government will of necessity have to depend largely upon the willingness of foreign steamship lines to observe the law.

Senator Sterling, Republican, South Dakota, a dry leader, announced he would introduce a bill in the next congress extending the three-mile limit to twelve miles, and making the Volstead law applicable to all vessels therein.

Head of Krupp Works
Is Put Under Arrest

PARIS, May 1.—The French military authorities today arrested Herr Krupp von Bohlen, head of the great Krupp works, the biggest industry in Germany.

Herr Krupp von Bohlen became head of the Krupp works when he married Bertha Krupp, whose family founded the Krupp works.

Several directors of the Krupp works are already under arrest, having been taken into custody shortly after the outbreak at the Krupp works late in March, when eleven German workers were shot down by French soldiers.

The French accused the Krupp directors with inspiring the trouble. Up to 7:30 this evening the specific charge against Herr Krupp von Bohlen had not been revealed.

WORKERS OF EUROPE IN MAY DAY STRIKES

U. S. Labor Unions Ignore
Foreign Troubles in Celebrations

DEMONSTRATIONS were conducted throughout all Europe today by workers sympathetic with the cause of extremist socialism and communism. Metal workers in northern Italy disregarded the warning of Premier Benito Mussolini not to attempt any display of force. Demonstrations were reported from the Ruhr and from Bavaria despite the notifications of the French military authorities and the Bavarian government that parades, meetings and speeches would not be tolerated.

Quiet in England
LONDON, May 1.—May day passed quietly in England, although there was a demonstration in Hyde park, near Buckingham palace. Communists held a big parade, but it was under police supervision. There was a demonstration before the Japanese embassy in protest against Japanese policy towards Russia, but it passed off quietly, owing to the large numbers of policemen on duty.

ROME, May 1.—Steel and iron workers in the Milan industrial district quit work today to take part in May day celebrations. Fascist national guardsmen were on riot duty.

Communists Defiant
BERLIN, May 1.—German May day activities generally took the form of anti-French demonstrations. (Continued on page 3)

Administration Budget
Bill Passes Assembly

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—The administration budget bill carrying the general appropriations for the conduct of the state government and its institutions, commissions and departments for the next two years passed the assembly today by a vote of 71 to 3.

An emergency clause giving effect to the bill immediately after the adjournment of the legislature was adopted without a dissenting vote.

No further attempt was made to amend the budget bill in the assembly today and even the administration opponents offered no opposition to its passage.

The only two members voting against it were Fulwider of Santa Rosa and Moore of Eureka. Both administration members. They did so, they said, in protest against the amendments that had been forced through by the anti-administration members to provide increases of upward of a million dollars for educational and other purposes above the amounts desired by Governor Richardson.

Assemblyman T. M. Wright of Santa Clara, one of the anti-administration leaders, filed a statement for publication in the assembly journal explaining his vote for passage of the bill.

Attempt To Change Council
Meeting Time To Daylight
Hours Is Not Accomplished

An attempt to change the time of the city council's sessions from evening to daylight hours for the future was made last night, but failed because of lack of support.

The matter was brought up by Councilman Asa Hall, who suggested that hereafter the city council should convene at 9:30 a. m. His motion was seconded immediately by Councilman W. A. Horn.

"You will have to excuse me from attending meetings of the council then," said Councilman C. E. Kimlin. "I have other things to do, and I can't live on $40 a month. You men, who are retired and don't have to live on the sweat of your brow, may find day meetings all right, but you will have to count me out of this."

"Well, I could be here, all right," asserted Councilman Sam Davis, "but I think that the majority of people who want to do business with us couldn't be here."

Councilman Kimlin added that citizens frequently call him on the telephone to inquire if a certain matter will come up at night when they can be there.

"I don't believe any group of men can give the fullest efficiency during the night hours," declared Councilman Horn. "I don't know but what some of us are just as busy as our friend Mr. Kimlin. I accepted this position with a full knowledge of its responsibilities, and with the thought in mind of giving the best that is in me. I can't give the best when I am tired and weary."

Suggesting that if the hour of 9:30 a. m. was not agreeable, and other hour in the day might be substituted, Councilman Asa Hall remarked:

"Glendale, of course, is not a village any more. We know that in lots of villages they conduct business at night. As Mr. Horn says, it is unjust to the city of Glendale and unjust to many people."

PERMITS FOR GLENDALE'S BUILDING GROWING

Total for Month of April Is $582,998 and Year to Date $3,663,422

APRIL records closed at the city hall yesterday afternoon with $582,998 worth of building permits to the month's credit. May started this morning with $3,663,422 to the credit of the first four months of 1922. This is just $1,185,413 or one-third more than the $2,478,009 worth of permits issued during the first four months of 1921. Last year the monthly totals were as follows:

January, $512,155; February, $421,890; March, $521,265; April, $1,022,699. This year the monthly totals are as follows: January, $1,024,336; February, $1,019,613; March, $1,036,387; April, $582,998.

Last April with its total of $1,022,699 had the largest monthly total during all of 1921. This total has been exceeded already by two months of this year: January, $1,024,336, and March, $1,036,387, with February's total of $1,019,613 close behind.

Church Gets Permit
The Presbyterian church was issued a permit on April 29, 1922, for the erection of its $650,000 structure upon the northwest corner of Harvard and Louise streets. Had this not been issued, the total for last April would have been $732,699 or $210,289 less than the total for this month just past.

Moreover, the total for April of this year is one-third greater than the total of $393,418 for April, 1921, and over four times $1,019,613 close behind.

Police Probe Death
Of College Student

CHICAGO, May 1.—Efforts to substantiate the theory of Evans-ton police that Leighton Mount, young Northwestern university student, was murdered during a class rush at the school in September, 1921, were continued with a grim earnestness today following the discovery of Mount's body buried under half a ton of rock and debris beneath a pier near the university campus. Identification of the body, which had been reduced almost to a skeleton, was made by the youth's mother, who recognized a belt buckle. She has maintained since the day of her son's disappearance that he was slain by sophomores and that his body eventually would be found.

Women Ask Harding Aid Sugar Fight

NEW YORK, May 1.—Housewives of New York, under the leadership of Mrs. Louis R. Weismiller, this afternoon appealed to President Harding to join in the war on high sugar prices.

A telegram dispatched to the president urged him to "call upon all housewives throughout the country to restrict the use of sugar until it is brought down to a reasonable price."

The housewives here regarded as a "reasonable price" 7 or 8 cents a retail. Sugar now is selling at 10 to 11 cents.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The federal government will make no move officially in proposing or aiding a boycott on sugar with a view to breaking present high prices, it was announced officially at the White House this afternoon.

President Harding was reported as feeling that it was not the function or the right of the government to participate in any such move, but that all efforts of the administration should be concentrated on legal steps to reduce prices which seem unreasonably high.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—Women of America are on the right track in their sugar boycott, Secretary of Commerce Hoover said today.

"The way to control prices is a spontaneous control of demand," said Hoover.

DECIDE UPON FIVE-STORY HOTEL FOR $500,000

Structure at Brand and California Will be
Class A, Decision

THE $500,000 hotel to be erected at the corner of California avenue and Brand boulevard will be a five-story, class A structure, with a one-story brick garage in the rear, on the alley, it was decided at last night's meeting in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, attended by nineteen of those interested in the project.

This decision was reached following a report of the building committee, Dr. E. H. Parker, chairman. And, although there still remain numerous details of the plans to be worked out with Alfred F. Priest, architect, it is thought certain that the building will follow either the U or H lines, with attractive entrance and spacious lobby, while several select shops will probably be available for lease on the main floor, facing Brand boulevard.

Meeting Today
This noon the finance committee, C. C. Cooper, chairman, will meet with other interested parties for luncheon in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium, at which time financial arrangements for the enterprise will be stabilized.

"A loan of $250,000 has already been arranged," states Mr. Cooper, and subscriptions of a general nature have been made for practically the entire balance of the finances needed. There are, however, some loose ends of the proposition to tie in; and it will be necessary to solicit somewhat more money, owing to additional demands put upon the treasury by last night's decision to erect a Class A, five-story building, with a garage in the rear. But we anticipate no difficulty in soliciting the balance of the funds needed, having already succeeded in obtaining by far the greater portion of what money will be required to carry the enterprise through to completion."

On Committee
The finance committee that will meet this noon comprises C. C. Cooper, chairman, H. S. Webb, V. M. Hollister, W. W. Plumb, A. G. Spohr, J. B. Burn, J. A. Endicott, D. H. Smith, R. F. Kitterman and W. B. Kelly.

Those present at last night's meeting were C. C. Cooper, Mattison B. Jones, J. B. Burn, J. A. Endicott, Dr. E. H. Parker, J. G. Huntley, D. H. Smith, Samuel C. Kinch, Alfred F. Priest, A. T. Burton, Mrs. Ella W. Richardson, Burr Richardson, J. H. Thompson, Philip W. Parker, E. U. Emery, Judge Harry Chase, R. F. Kitterman, Frank D. Meyers and Julius Kranz.

Daily HEALTH-AGAIN TALKS

By Dr. Otey

Surgical treatment to result in the best effect must be preceded and followed by Osteopathic correction.

Osteopathic preparation and after care is the modus operandi par excellence. Its supporting influence makes for speedy and complete cure and often makes the difference in success or failure of an operation.

Osteopathy more than any other thing has cleared the list of non-surgical and decreased the list of surgical diseases and conditions.

Better preserve an organ or other structure and renew its function rather than cut it out.

The big idea in Osteopathy is conservation. Instead of $300 for removing an appendix that amount should represent the proper fee for curing it without operation.

I would suggest $5.00 as a very reasonable fee for removing it and even then the doctor would be overpaid for his services if he belongs to the class that cannot cure an ordinary case of appendicitis.

If your case is one that calls for surgery, the fitting of glasses, regulation of your diet, your sex life or other habits of living or problems of life, he will so advise.

The men and women who have made the greatest success in life have been those who learned to avail themselves of the highly specialized training of the mechanic, the chemist, the engineer, etc., etc. Learn to utilize the services of the Osteopath for production of greater energy, for his intelligent utilization and conservation and thereby build into your success better health, more efficiency and longer life.

SOLONS TO PASS APPROPRIATIONS

Governor to Revise Figures
Of Measure as Passed,
Is Prediction

By GIL A. COWAN
Special to The Evening News

SACRAMENTO, May 1.—The highly amended general appropriation bill is scheduled to pass the assembly of the California legislature today, and tomorrow will see it in the hands of the senate, barring delay in transmission. The upper house may amend it further, some seven requests for additional funds by different departments and institutions being known to exist.

Late yesterday the assembly added a bit for the state railroad commission and granted the San Francisco Teachers' college $190,000 for a new building. The senate is expected to concur in all amendments, although the minor administration members of both houses will likely make their position clear in voting out the bill. They will express the hope that the governor will revise the figures, and no doubt he will.

The Senate yesterday passed Assembly Bill No. 948, a Los Angeles crime commission measure, which provides that probation shall be denied those who use deadly weapons in the commission of robbery, burglary and other high crimes, also second offenders in similar crimes, and officers convicted of bribery, extortion or embezzlement.

ADVOCATES CIVIC CLEARING HOUSE

Mass Meetings Are Obsolete In Securing Opinions of Voters Claim

Editor The Evening News—
Glendale's recent mass meetings have demonstrated that we have passed beyond that period of our corporate existence in which mass meetings afford a reliable means

Our recent election demonstrated that the voters of Glendale, in common with the vote against everything which they believe the "Ins want to put over." The election also indicated the weight—or lack of it—which is given to indorsements of A. L. Harris and other issues by our "leading" civic and commercial organizations.

At the "Love feast" held on the occasion of the installation of our recently elected councilmen, the burden of the song sung by our singing Mayor and his co-workers was "Just come to us with your troubles and tell us what you want." Every one of them will tell you that the only people who come to them are

The great majority of those who go to public officials do so seeking something for themselves or their friends regardless of the consequences which the granting of their request may be to the rest of the taxpayers. The Mayor and his associates will tell you that there is nothing which would also able to secure an informal but reliable expression of public opinion when they are being damned if they do and damned if they don't.

Substitute Needed

Having outgrown mass meetings we need something to take their place. We must provide a new piece of civic machinery which will enable us to ascertain what the having to resort to the slow, cumbersome and expensive expedient of holding a special election.

We need a non-partisan, non-sectarian clearing house through which all clubs, societies, associations, and other organizations in the city, regardless of color, sex, race, or creed, can express and change ideas and opinions, and find out what "the other fellow" is thinking about, and then give expression to a preference or an opinion as to what course of action should be followed in the matter under consideration.

The clearing house should be nothing more. If it degenerates into a debating society or a political machine it will die a natural death in short order. Its only function should be that of disseminating information among its members. The mere existence of an organization which makes an honest attempt to secure all of the facts about both sides of the problem under consideration will go a long way towards securing honest reform.

An organization which secures and disseminates information which enables its members to vote intelligently on propositions submitted to them, which calls on its members for a straw vote on the same, is a good thing.

and then publishes a report showing the results of the ballots taken in the organizations of the city, will be giving expression to the "Public Opinion." An intelligent, organized majority which knows what it wants, gets it.

Glendale Post No. 127, American Legion, has been considering the advisability of requesting the co-operation of those who are interested in honest, efficient government in the formation of a clearing house of the kind described above. If you are interested send your comments and criticism to the Chairman of the American Legion Civics Committee, Jas. W. Everington, 531 North Louise street, Yours truly,
JAMES W. EVERINGTON.

COUNCIL GRANTS PERMIT TO MOVE

Auto Wrecking Co. Request Opposed by E. Broadway Property Owners

The Glendale Auto Wrecking Company was given permission to move its establishment from a shack at 418 East Broadway into its new $4,500 building at 1008 East Broadway last night by the City Council.

The partners in this business, H. Dvorken of 419 South Adams street, and M. Dassoif, of 415 South Adams street, were represented by Attorney W. C. Anspach of 111 East Broadway. Protesting property owners in the vicinity were represented by Attorney Oliver O. Clark of 346 North Louise street. They met with the City Council in the committee of the whole.

An agreement was reached whereby Mr. Dvorken and Mr. Dassoif promised to keep their premises neat and orderly at all times upon threat of having their permit cancelled immediately upon their failure to do so.

James Howarth, business manager for the Harrower Laboratory, made a request in the open council meeting that the case be re-opened at Thursday night's session. This was favored by Councilman C. E. Kimlin. Other members of the council stated that they had entered into an agreement on the subject already and that they did not see how they could reverse their decision.

"I move that the permit be granted," said Councilman Asa Hall.

"I second the motion," continued Councilman W. A. Horn.

Councilman C. E. Kimlin voted against it on the grounds that protestants should be given another opportunity to express themselves.

Move House to Make Room for New Hotel

The light of the silvery moon last night served for illumination while Contractor C. H. Basore supervised the removal of the two-story home from 301 North Brand boulevard. This was done at night in order not to interfere with the Pacific Electric service. It is now being taken to a new site at 505 North Adams street. Its former site, on the northwest corner of California avenue and Brand boulevard, is to be a hotel site.

CONDITION IMPROVES

Mrs. J. Boettner of 128 West Windsor Road who was operated upon last Saturday at the Glendale Research Hospital, is getting along very nicely. It is expected that she can be removed to her home in a few days.

Health Talks

So many people complain to me about the painfulness of chiropractic adjustments. Chiropractic adjustments should not be painful. I can and do give painless adjustments, and any one who knows the latest methods of adjustments can do the same. Chiropractic is foremost in the healing sciences of today. It has stood the test for years. It truly can be said, "Chiropractic adjustments remove the cause of disease." But I give massage with every adjustment, because it assists nature to restore the body to its normal condition. Massage is one of the oldest of the healing arts. It has been used in some form for centuries. The French people used it years ago, but it was in a crude way. It was Peter Ling of Sweden, who systematized this method and later J. Weir Mitchell was influential in bringing it to this country where he used it in his practice with splendid results, and from time to time others have studied and practiced massage with equally good results. I am a graduate and an authorized teacher of the Gosta Ynnell System of Massage. Prof. Ynnell practiced massage for forty-five years in Europe and America, and his system of massage is highly recommended in institutions of the east.

Massage profoundly influences the entire nervous system and accelerates the flow of blood through the system, increases oxidation and absorption, and improves the circulation of blood and lymph. Waste and poisonous substances are taken up and by this circulation eliminated from the system more quickly. Massage assists in digestion and assimilation. It promotes kidney activity. It improves the nutrition of the muscles, thereby promoting their development. Therefore, I use Chiropractic plus Massage in my practice. If you have never tried this system of treatment or not getting the results you should have, come and see me. Just be fair with yourself and have the best.

CLUB WOMEN TO STAGE CARNIVAL

Mardi Gras Gaiety to Reign At All Day Pageant Next Saturday

Real Mardi Gras spirit is to prevail Saturday at the Carnival of Months, to be presented at the Tuesday Afternoon club house by Non-Section members under the direction of Mrs. A. H. Montgomery, chairman of ways and means. It is to be one of the most brilliant affairs yet given in the new club home and will afford club friends an opportunity to enjoy the hospitality of the club women, as well as have a part in augmenting the building fund.

Festivities are to begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue until a late hour Saturday night.

Luncheon is to be served all day, and there will be attractive booths, some for each month, where many gifts can be purchased.

A program presented in the auditorium at night will include Scotch, Spanish and Irish artists.

FOOTHILL ASSN. MEETS TONIGHT

Alexander Mitchell, President of the Foothill Improvement association, announces that the organization will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the Grand View school.

It is the regular gathering of the association and the time will be devoted to consideration of business affairs and discussion of subjects of interest to the members.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is fading, streaked or gray. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get a bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound at any drug store all ready for use. This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared, and, after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Advertisement.

LAUDS PLANS TO WIDEN BURCHETT

Mark A. Denman Would Open Series of Small Civic Parks Here

Editor The Evening News: As a resident of Burchett street, may I say a few words about the proposal to make this street a part of a fine cross-town boulevard?

Perhaps there is no benevolence toward the present Burchett street in this proposal. It is doubtless, as it should be, to benefit a very much wider area and in fact a very wide section of our north and west of Glendale. It is a move to connect the whole section from San Fernando to Verdugo, bringing our now blind street into contact with the two beautiful subdivisions of Glenhurst and Rossmoyne. Whatever the motive, my view of the matter moves me to wish God-speed to the work.

The entire section north of Doran should feel a new sense of a wider, finer contact, and, hence, of life. Mr. Brown's plans to erect a large apartment hotel at the junction of Brand and Burchett, the opening of this, at present pent-up and limited street, the completion of the splendid little Patterson Park and recreation center through which the new boulevard will run, and the artistic illumination of this boulevard for the entire length, should give this section a real vision of metropolitanism and dignity.

Urges Small Parks

With our glorious mountains, also in full view along the whole sweep, added to all the rest, we will invite the erection of beautiful homes and do more than anything else could do to make this section the Wilshire of Glendale. When this long scenic boulevard takes the place of the two or more streets now known as Burchett, Monterey, etc., being a single unit, it should be called by a name suggestive of real character and tone.

May I venture a suggestion that comes to me as I have thought of this boulevard in its connection with Rossmoyne? There is a small section of Rossmoyne contiguous to this route which lends itself so convincingly to the small civic park idea that it will be a pity if arrangements are not made for another beautiful recreation center. With two or more large parks like Griffith and Sunland in easy access, would it not be fine if our wonderful growing city would establish small open parks at proper intervals, things of beauty, especially in this southland and buffers of congestion so common in American cities?

Glendale can do now, at this point, what it will require millions to do later. This little tract over in Rossmoyne can be had to day by collaboration with Messrs. Haddock & Nibley at a very low figure. Failure now means that future generations may say "if they only had."

Wishing our city manager and council the early consummation of their plans for this enterprise.

MARK A. DENMAN.

MONTROSE

COMPLETE PLANS FOR CLUB HOUSE

Work on Oakmont Country Club Building Will Start Shortly

Actual construction will be started in about two weeks upon the new $50,000 clubhouse of the Oakmont Country club.

Announcement to this effect was made yesterday afternoon in the Glendale office of this organization in the Monch Building by H. M. Parker, vice-president and general manager of the Oakmont Country club.

The Roy L. Kent Company of 130 South Brand boulevard has completed the plans already and is spending this week tracing them. As soon as this is completed, the company will carry out its contract and call for bids. When these are received, they will be turned over to a special meeting of the directors. This meeting will be held about the first of next week.

The site of the clubhouse is about half a mile west of Verdugo road about an elevation where the front porch, which will be about seventy feet long and twenty feet wide, will overlook the entire Sparr Valley. The building, which will be 304 feet long, will be placed between two clumps of live oaks.

Behind the building will be a sheltered parking space for a hundred automobiles. This is an accommodation possessed on so large a scale by no other country club in Southern California.

The architecture will be of rustic English. The appearance of the frame building will be noticeable for its high gable roof.

Entrance From Rear

Entrance to the clubhouse will be from the rear of the building. To the south side will be a suite of offices, and to the north will be a passageway leading to the grill, which will accommodate a hundred men at one time. The billiard room, which will be eighteen by thirty-two feet in size, will open from the west side of this corridor. It will contain two pool tables.

Adjoining the grill upon the east will be the kitchen. This will be thirty by thirty-seven feet in size. Dumb waiters will connect it with storage rooms in the basement. Its equipment will cost over $4,000.

The central portion of the building on the south side of the kitchen will be occupied by the main dining room, which will be forty by seventy-five feet in size and will accommodate 200 persons, and the lounge or main parlor. This will be forty by sixty feet in size. These two rooms are being arranged so that they can be converted into one and provide a floor sixty to one hundred and thirty feet in size for dances. A feature of the lounge room will be a huge cobblestone chimney in the corner which will have open fireplaces upon all four sides. Both rooms will have ceilings extending to the peak of the roof, and braced by open rafters. They will be furnished with appropriate English period furniture.

For Women Members

Women's quarters will occupy the south wing of the building. These will consist of dressing rooms, including twenty lockers and shower baths and retiring rooms. A veranda upon the west side of this wing will provide a space for open air card parties and afternoon teas.

Men's quarters will be located in the north wing. These will contain twelve lockers, twelve dressing rooms and 350 steel lockers.

An open air swimming pool, thirty-five by seventy-five feet in size, will be sunk in the ground not far away from the north wing of the clubhouse. This will be constructed of such materials that it will seem to be a natural pool. Sides will be adorned with artificial rocks. Close by will be the tennis courts.

A protected children's playground will be located near the north wing of the clubhouse. Here they may be "parked" while their parents are playing golf.

Four of the eighteen holes of golf course will be near the clubhouse. Others will be placed at intervals over the 115 acres of the premises. These extend from Verdugo road on the east to the hills on the west and from the northern boundary of Verdugo Woodlands on the north to the southern boundary of Montrose. This estate is valued at $230,000.

Contractor J. W. Dees of Pasadena already has ten teams of mules at work grading the southern portion of the links. Many of the grape vines have been uprooted by a fagot tractor while others are being pulled out by teams. Mr. Dees is regarded as an expert in the preparation of golf courses. He has graded the links for both the Annandale and the Midwick Country clubs.

By the end of June grass will be planted over the southern end of the course. This will have a good stand by the end of September. At this time a nine-hole course will be ready for golf fans.

BICYCLE STOLEN

Contractor Clarence Smith of 312 North Kenwood street has offered a reward of $10 for the return of the blue and white Yale bicycle belonging to his son, Lawrence, which was stolen last night.

or trains on that portion of its line of railroad situated within the corporate limits of the city of Glendale including spur tracks, side tracks and all other tracks. This authority is granted pursuant to the provisions of Section 465-A of the civil code of the state of California.

EAGLE ROCK

C. OF C. DINNER EVENT TONIGHT

Final Details of Campaign To Be Arranged; Goal Of 350 Members

Eagle Rock is engaged in a vigorous program of spring housecleaning, preparatory to turning over the premises to Los Angeles. Everywhere, meetings, conferences, reorganizations are under way.

Last night, April 30, the City Council met in the auditorium of the city hall, with Mayor S. B. Osborne presiding, and considered various remaining details incident to the amalgamation of the district with the great metropolis to the west.

Tonight, May 1, the reorganized Chamber of Commerce, under the direction of O. J. Root, president, is holding a big dinner at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, at which final details of the forthcoming campaign will be arranged.

And Friday night, May 4, at 8 o'clock, a general mass-meeting is to be held at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, under the auspices of the Sunrise Civic club, G. C. Mattison, president, in charge, the purpose being to form a new improvement association for Eagle Rock, uniting all sections under one banner of progress.

Fine Program Planned

Ben H. Schouboe, campaign director of the Chamber of Commerce membership drive, reports that gratifying progress has been made toward the goal of 350 members and a $3000 service fund. The speakers at tonight's dinner will be the following, he says—George W. Bunton, secretary of the Van Nuys Chamber of Commerce; George A. Green, a director of the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce and president of the Vermont Avenue Improvement Association; and J. A. Lewis, of Highland Park, president of the Los Angeles Song Leaders' Association.

Mr. Green will tell the members that there is room in the community for various organizations and associations but that every merchant and property owner should unite under the emblem of the Chamber of Commerce, as this is the one civic body that really represents the community at large.

Mr. Lewis is at the banquet to-

EX-PARISHIONERS AT INSTALLATION

Glendale Catholics Present As Fr. O'Neill Assumes Oxnard Charge

Glendale friends of Father J. S. O'Neill, parish priest of St. Claire Parish, Oxnard, will be interested to learn that a company of his Glendale friends and former parishioners from the Holy Family Catholic church, visited him Sunday.

It was Father O'Neill's installation Sunday in his new field, and he was greatly pleased to greet his Glendale friends. Father O'Neill was recently promoted to the Oxnard work, where he and two assistant priests are in charge of two missions and a hospital, in addition to the church.

The Glendale visitors were delightfully entertained at the parish house and at the Huememe beach home of Mr. and Mrs. Treher.

The company included Mr. and Mrs. George McLaughlin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunn, Mrs. Reed Heustis and family, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. McDowell, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Eckles, Mr. and Mrs. R. School Bonds Bring Premium of $14,175

The competitive bidding before the Los Angeles county board of supervisors yesterday for the $500,000 Glendale city school five per cent bonds aroused considerable interest. Bids were entered by eight groups of bankers which included nearly all of the investment houses of Los Angeles. The successful bidders were a syndicate headed by the First Securities Company and including California Company, National City Company, Hunter, Dublin & Company, and Anglo-London Paris Company, which offered a premium of $14,175.00 above par and accrued interest.

The Glendale school 5s are being offered today by this syndicate at prices to yield 4.60 per cent. The bonds mature serially from one to forty years, $13,000 each year until 1943 and $12,000 each year thereafter until 1963.

The First Securities Company is affiliated with the First National Bank of Los Angeles and the Pacific-Southwest Trust & Savings Bank.

night by special invitation, having made such a hit at last week's smoker that scores of those present enthusiastically demanded of Mr. Schouboe to have him at the present function.

"Everyone in Eagle Rock and all who are interested in Eagle Rock are welcome at tonight's dinner," Mr. Schouboe says. "The more we have, the quicker we can achieve our goal and obtain for this community the sort of a chamber it should have."

Several prominent speakers will address Friday night's mass-meeting at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, it is reported by Mr. Mattison. And Mrs. F. M. Runge, who is in charge of entertainment, gives out the following program—a solo, by Mrs. John C. Craus and a violin selection, by Mrs. Christine Pape Myers, both accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. R. Rose; and a group of Scotch songs by George T. Vallance, a brother-in-law of Sir Harry Lauder.

"As it is very desirable to organize an improvement association for Eagle Rock that will really serve the entire section," says Mr. Mattison, "we look for a large turn-out at Friday night's mass-meeting. Officers will be elected and we want if possible that a thorough representation be had."

"Let's Go Fishing!"

Eagle Rock, being bitten badly by the fishing bee and laid up in addition with a bad case of spring fever, and motor parties organizing and leaving daily for "parts unknown," stay-at-homes are beginning to wonder where it all will end.

Dr. H. B. Crawford and Dr. Edward Ellison, of 106 South Central avenue, packed up hook, line and sinker, and left Monday morning for Big Bear, and will be gone for three days. During their absence their business is being looked after by Dr. C. I. Irving, of Burbank.

And among others who are planning to follow some such alluring program are Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Runge, of 116 Floristan avenue, who plan to take the stage to the summit of Mt. Wilson this Saturday, and hike down the east slope, fishing along the numerous branches of the San Gabriel river. With them will go some friends from Los Angeles.

WHEN EVERY MOVE HURTS

Came every morning, achy and if all day, worse when it's damp chilly? Suspect your kidneys and try the remedy your neighbors use.
 Mrs. H. E. McClenahan, 84 N. Union Ave., Pasadena, Cal., says: "I had hardly done the misery endured from backache. My back ached constantly and I could scarcely turn in bed. When I was using the sewing machine, pains might me across my kidneys. I was so tired I could hardly do anything. I had dizzy spells and my back came before my eyes. I took four boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills and they cured me of the attack. The backache and all other symptoms left and I felt well again."
 Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills—the one that Mrs. McClenahan had. Sater-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Adrian Moon sat up late in the study of his father's house. Overhead the soft footsteps of the nurse could be heard. The rest was silence. Adrian, only son of Whipple Moon, had the appearance of the anxious relative ready for a summons to the bedside. He was wondering about the will.

"It isn't likely he would leave it all to Ellen," he thought. Ellen's marriage had taken her out of the old man's life, not because she was unwilling to return for a visit, but because the old Whipple Moon had resented the match which took her away.

"If you are not going to stay and take care of me," he had said, "you need not return." Ellen was the elder. The father sternly disapproved of a dutiful son. Old Whipple studied the young man closely, but never gave him his confidence. Now Moon was dying without sending for his daughter, and Adrian wondered what was in the will.

The young man went to the door and listened. Then he tried to open the door where he felt the will was kept. The lock would have to be picked, and Adrian went at it in a businesslike way. He would leave no telltale scratches. There was plenty of time. It was easy.

It was lucky, thought Adrian, he looked at this paper. He glanced angrily at the ceiling over which was the sickbed. Whipple Moon still held his daughter closest to his heart. The will was the admission, a stilted document written in the crabbed hand of the millionaire.

"The executor of this will," it read, "will ascertain at the time of my death the oldest of my descendants and give to her, as hereinafter summarized, the bulk of my estate." Adrian read it all through and thought of the months he had spent in the dreary house. His share would be less than $5,000. Ellen would be rich.

He thought of the will, which was so like his father in its love of stilted phrases.

"The oldest at the time of my death," Adrian quoted from memory. That was queer. The oldest would always be the oldest. The young man studied the writing, took out his fountain pen and tried to copy it.

"If it only read 'youngest,'" he said, "it would make sense—and mean me."

When Adrian Moon returned to the will to the desk the change had been made, and so cleverly, he thought, no one could tell the difference. The nurse called him. For a moment he shook with a new fear. Suppose his father should ask to see the will for a last time, even intend to change it in his favor and then make the discovery which would damn him! In his excitement he had overlooked this. The nurse, misreading his emotion, spoke gently.

"He did not ask for you," she said, "he died without speaking a word." Adrian Moon walked with a steady step to the bedside of his father.

It was almost time for the reading of the will and Ellen had not arrived. Adrian, in the role of the inconspicuous mourner, watched Ralph Stylock, attorney and friend of his father, open the desk and slip the will in his pocket. The young man sighed. There could be no more changing of the document, there was no chance now to right what he had done. He made himself feel the matter was out of his hands, that a load had been lifted from his mind.

It was not Ellen who came. Instead it was her husband, Frank Leslie, who apologized.

"We only heard Thursday," he said, "and—well, Ellen was ill and I could not get away. I came as quickly as I could." The small group settled down, and the attorney, to break the silence put a question to the newcomer.

"She is not seriously ill?"

"No, she is getting along very nicely now, she and the baby. We have a son at our house!"

Adrian Moon surprised in his chair and never moved while the will was being read.

"When was the baby born?" the lawyer asked when he had finished.

"Six days ago, that was Saturday."

Ellen's son, the youngest descendant at the time of Whipple Moon's death, inherited the fortune which no one but Adrian Moon knew had been meant for the mother. Ellen and Frank like it better that way. Adrian is growing old.

YOUTHFUL SPIRIT INTERPRETED HERE
The new skirt with flat back and flounced sides is cleverly illustrated in the frock to the left. For its development the crepe silks and crepes may be used and the colors may be as soft and subdued as the fancy dictates or as gay as an exuberant spirit demands. The dress closes on the left shoulder. Two saucy frills finish the short kimono sleeves and the girlish is of self-material. Medium size requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

A plaited skirt, a monogrammed blouse and a Deauville 'kerchief divide smart favor in the second model. New fabrics have exalted the blouse from an accessory to a strangely significant fashion. Crepe de chine or silk tricot would make up the model with unusual success. If preferred, the blouse may be slashed in the center and the fronts rolled back to form revers. Usually the monogram is in self-color. Medium size requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

First Model—Pictorial Review Dress No. 1538. Sizes, 34 to 44 inches bust and 14 to 20 years. Price, 35 cents.

Second Model—Blouse No. 1490. Size, 34 to 46 inches bust. Price, 30 cents. Skirt No. 9126. Sizes, 24 to 34 inches waist. Price, 35 cents.

Diet and Health
By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of 'Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories'

The Amount of Protein Necessary
Adults need protein simply to repair their tissues, their physical growth having ceased. Your children must have protein not only for repair but for growth. When we realize that the period of development of growth covers nearly one-fourth of a century, and that at maturity there is approximately twenty times the birth weight and twenty times the amount of protein in the body that there was at birth, you can realize that children must have a large amount of protein for this business of growing.

Let me emphasize again that it is important to have complete proteins. At least two-thirds of the proteins in our diet should be complete proteins. The reason for having two-thirds of the needed amount in complete proteins is not only for their complete supply of building properties, but because the vegetable proteins are combined with large amounts of carbohydrates, and depending upon too much carbohydrate combined protein might make the diet too bulky and over-high in total energy food.

It is estimated that one-half the protein the child uses goes into new tissue. So you can see that children would need relatively more protein than adults. For instance, if we take ten per cent of the total diet as the average amount of protein needed by an adult, then at least fifteen per cent would be given to the child.

It is only by studies of groups of healthy, normal, well-developed children, presumably getting the right food in right proportions, that we can get data on the amount of protein and other food elements needed by children. Holt, in such a study of 100 children ranging in age from one to eighteen years, made such a study as this:

His reports agreed with the reports of other investigators. He found that at the age of one year the protein taken averaged seven calories per pound. This gradually diminished to about four and one-half calories when the child was six years of age, and remained about this value or slightly below to the end of growth. He thinks that this amount of protein may be regarded at present as the best amount for the growing child.

The average adult, according to the Chittenden standard—which by many is considered too low—needs approximately one and one-half calories of protein per pound of body weight. So you can see that the above standard for children after their first year is more than twice as much per pound as is needed by adults.

Human mother's milk does not contain a high proportion of protein. This fact is sometimes stated to advance the theory that a low protein allowance is indicated for children. However, the reason the nursing babies get along on this low amount of protein is because the protein of mother's milk is the very highest form of complete protein, and can all be utilized by the child. It has twice the amount cow's milk has of lactalbumen—a protein that contains the most important growth factors and that we have learned from experience babies will not thrive without a full amount of. Therefore, we have to give babies

BEAUTY CHATS

ANSWERED LETTERS

Mrs. C. L. M.—I will be glad to send you the formula for a tonic for the lashes which will also darken them. If you wish this, send a stamped addressed envelope.

Duffy—Unless your dark brown hair would be improved by using henna, there is no reason why it should be used, merely because of its being a gift.

Henna is used in three ways, to tint stray grey hairs so they will not be so noticeable, to give a slight reddish tint to hair that is lifeless in color, or to color the whole head henna shade.

The article you mention is a trade preparation, so I do not know anything about its merits.

R. W.—Massaging the muscles of the face is done very little any more, as the work must be done very skillfully, else the result is harmful rather than helpful. Massaging nourishing oils or creams into the skin is done either with the finger tips or the vibrator. This sort of treatment, together with astringents at times, will keep the skin firm and the tissues built up, so there is less tendency to lines than in the old way of the vigorous massage.

Mr. Anna H.—An increase in weight of fifty pounds in a year at the age of nineteen is almost incredible. I do not wonder that you feel ill. A thorough physical examination would be advisable, then you will know just what sort of treatment you need to regain your normal weight and good health. There are no drugs for reduction that would be safe to take.

Edith A.—Directions for dieting would consume too much space to print at this time. Also you gave me no idea whether you desired directions for reduction or increasing weight, so I cannot even give you suggestions. All this information will be mailed to you, however, if you send a stamped addressed envelope repeating your request.

P. L. J.—A dermatologist will be able to tell you whether or not the scar can be removed. You may also get reliable information of this kind at any of the hospitals, especially those specializing in skin ailments.

M. R.—Instead of once a week, use the hair tonic three times and massage the scalp well every day to help in this effort of stimulating the color secretion. If you are run down or extremely nervous it will take even more local treatment to attain the desired results. If you are anemic the hair will show it. In such a case a blood tonic will help the coloring.

George L.—Your shiny, red nose cannot be helped through a skin bleach, as the trouble is not with the skin. In most cases of this kind there is an impacted color or some other sluggishness with the organs of elimination. Try drinking plenty of water between meals, eat at least a half if not a whole grapefruit before breakfast and include a green vegetable with the dinner.

Tomorrow—An Eyelash Tonic.
All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a person or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Side Talks
by Ruth Cameron

THE TACTFUL PERSON
I heard an excellent definition of tact the other day. Too good to keep to myself. Therefore, "What we call tact is the ability to find, before it is too late, what it is that our friends do not desire to learn from us. It is the art of withholding on proper occasions information which we are quite sure would be good for them."

Very good, don't you think? And capable of infinite expansion and application.

What Tact Teaches
For instance, tact teaches its possessor not only to withhold its constructive information which is boring to those who don't desire to hear it at that moment, but also to select carefully the personal details which we shall communicate and the people to whom we shall communicate them.

Who has not met the man or woman who tells little personal and family details, not only to his or her friends who know the people involved and may be interested, but to casual acquaintances who don't know them and cannot be interested?

Who does not know the person who, without the dramatic ability to make it interesting, persists in telling people the plot of the book twice or even three times the amount of protein when they are artificially fed, in order that they shall have their full amount of this growth protein, lactalbumen. One of the reasons for the failure of the condensed milk formulas when they are used exclusively is because of their low protein content as well as because of their low fat and too high sugar content.

Of course there is danger of excess protein in children's diets, as there is in the diet of adults. Excess protein tends to cause putrefaction with its resultant absorption of toxins or poisons. However, in the growing child the danger is more on the side of too little protein in its diet rather than too much, because very little meat should be given children, while with the adult it is usually the excess meat in the diet that causes the excess protein.

We have a table of the protein calories in 100-calorie portions of food which you may have by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper. This is a table I worked out in round numbers from the standard tables, and it is accurate enough. This will help you to judge whether your child is getting sufficient protein in its diet. For instance, if he is six years old and weighs forty-three pounds, he should have, computing at four and one-half calories per pound, 190 calories a day of protein.

I am going to explain the calories a little later, mothers, and I will make them a little simpler for you. I know that most of you have not the time nor the liking for mathematics to calculate the calories to a fine point. Nor is this necessary. You could not have mathematical exactitude anyway unless the blood were accurately weighed and you knew exactly the different proportions of fats, carbohydrates and proteins that were in them. But I am going to tell you how you can reckon them approximately with very little trouble, and you will be amply repaid in the better health of your children.

Publish Figures on Teachers' Salaries
SACRAMENTO, May 1.—The average salary paid to teachers in California's elementary schools during the past year was $1,566 according to compilations made public late yesterday by Will Wood, state superintendent of public instruction.

Salaries of high school teachers averaged $2,123 and kindergarten instructors received an average of $1,399.

These gifts are to be exerted, the possessors of them will conquer only where nothing is to be gained and be defeated where nothing is to be lost, and will be outdone by men of less brilliant but more veritable qualifications.

KILL REMINGTON FOR LOVE, CLAIM

Girl Makes Confession to Officers; 2 Men Friends
Do Murder, Alleged

LOS ANGELES, May 1.—With the purported confession of a pretty 28-year-old woman, officials today believed they had learned the true story surrounding the slaying here on the night of February 15, last, of Earle Remington, clubman, and asserted "society bootlegger," who was shot down as he entered his St. Andrews place home.

The name of the young woman is withheld for the present, but her confession was told to Chief Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes by S. S. Hahn, attorney for the girl, and to whom she is said to have bared her soul. Hahn, it is claimed, approached Keyes on the matter of having the young woman surrender, provided she be allowed bail pending her trial, but Keyes refused.

Killed for Love
The girl's confession of the crime, in brief, is that Remington was slain for love—her love; that they had loved each other and then Remington's affections grew cold and he scorned her. Finally, with all the wrath of a jilted woman, she had two men friends assist her in trying to arrange a last interview with Remington. The trio trailed him to his home where they waited for him.

As Remington approached his house the two men asked him to go across the street where the woman was waiting in an automobile, so the confession is said to go. Remington refused and the men cut him down with a sawed-off shotgun and then stabbed him as the girl who loved him looked on. The trio then fled in an automobile.

The girl later became conscience-stricken and to relieve her feelings told her story to Attorney Hahn.

News Notes And Personal Mention About People In Southern Section Of City

FOLLOWING will be found news notes and personal mention about people in the southern section of Glendale. Southern Glendale is steadily progressing. New homes and business blocks are under way. Many people are purchasing property.

"Science, Evolution and Christianity" was the title of a lecture by G. W. Watt in the auditorium of the Gamut Club, Los Angeles, Sunday night, under the auspices of the International Bible Students' association. Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Richards of 1593 South San Fernando road heard it.

G. W. McLean, who formerly operated the Gateway garage at 1526 South San Fernando road and who is now living at Elizabeth lake, is spending a few days in Glendale.

The South Glendale Motor Service garage at 1416 South San Fernando road was closed Sunday while H. F. Hall and his brother, J. W. Hall, were in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Ostrander and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Childs, both families of 404 Ethel street, Sunday motored to Long Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ross of 1522 South San Fernando road Sunday visited Redondo.

Santa Monica was visited Sunday by two families from 1412½-A South San Fernando road. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gabel and sons, Ed and Russell, and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Schuetze and son, Junior.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Murphy of 1426 South San Fernando road and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Brenkman and son, Roy, of 1524 South San Fernando road, returned from Big Tujunga canyon Sunday night, after a week-end trip, with three cotton tails. Mr. Murphy had no sooner gotten a night's sleep than he set out yesterday morning to hunt trout. He promised that he wouldn't come back until he got some, either.

G. O. P. MARK TIME ON WORLD COURT

President and League Foes
Adopt Waiting Policy
Over Issue

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The feeling within the Republican party over the international court apparently settled down today to a stage of "watchful waiting" by both sides.

President Harding, it was said by his friends, is content to let the matter rest as it is for the present. He has unreservedly placed himself and his administration behind the court, and he is confident that time alone will remove the barriers to American membership that now loom up menacingly ahead. Mr. Harding believes that speeches feed the fires of controversy and that time heals more party splits than statements and addresses.

The anti-court element within the party, drawing its strength not only from the irreconcilables but also from the regular school of G. O. P. thought, likewise is content to let things drift for a while, it appeared today.

Johnson Is Feared
Senator Henry Cabot Lodge's letter to Governor Hyde of Missouri, in which he declined to endorse the court and indicated that the senate will write its own reservations, is construed in Republican circles as a reply to the president's court speech of last week. The anti-court faction is willing to stand for the present on the Lodge letter and let future developments mold the character of their program.

The return of Senator Hiram Johnson from Europe is awaited with an interest in G. O. P. circles here that is plentifully mixed with trepidation. Some prominent Republicans, at least, hold the opinion that the irreconcilable Californian will leap into the leadership of the fight against the court and take it to the people by opposing President Harding in the primaries.

Reindeer industry in the northern territory of Alaska will, with proper development, have an annual output of meat within a few years that will probably exceed in value the present gold or fisheries, says one observer.

The demand for first-class ornamental iron work is increasing every day, according to R. C. Goudie, Sr., who admits that he has difficulty in keeping up with orders. The new addition will add about a third to the floor space of this establishment.

Jack C. Satow, the guarantee plumber of 1515 South San Fernando road, went to Los Angeles yesterday on business.

RAILWAY POLICY TO BE REVEALED

Union Pacific Starts Series
Of Advertisements to Post Its Patrons

With an announcement that "The public be informed" is its policy in matters affecting both the railway and the public. President Carl R. Gray of the Union Pacific has launched a program of newspaper advertising, the first installment of which has just appeared. Others will follow on the first of each month.

"The Union Pacific realizes," says Mr. Gray, "that the good will of its patrons is its greatest asset. It also believes that a successful railway is the greatest asset of any community which it serves." With this statement every thoughtful citizen must be in complete accord.

Originally the sole function of a railway was to move persons and property from place to place. Today it is generally recognized that to explain to the public the how and why of the railway business is almost as essential as the doing of that business.

The Union Pacific has for many years encouraged its authorized representatives to discuss railway problems frankly with the public, but not until now has it undertaken to reach its patrons, employees and the public on the entire system at one time.

Serves Huge Area
The Union Pacific serves a mighty empire, extending from Council Bluffs, Omaha, St. Joseph, and Kansas City on the east to Los Angeles, Portland, Tacoma, Seattle, Spokane and Butte on the west. One out of every six persons in the country lives in a state reached by the Union Pacific. More than fifty thousand persons receive a Union Pacific pay check each month. Estimating four persons to a family, 200,000 persons are directly dependent on the Union Pacific for support. If to this be added persons engaged in producing supplies and materials purchased by the Union Pacific, the grand total would run into millions. The railway employees, their families, patrons of the road and the general public in the thirteen Union Pacific states are vitally concerned in maintaining the railway plant at a state of highest effectiveness.

Everyone who has the welfare of the community at heart will find interest and profit in this series of articles.

First pawnbrokers were Italian bankers, the greatest of which were the Medici of Florence, who had gilded pills on their shields in allusion to the professional origin of the name Medici, these pills eventually evolving into the sign of three balls.

Union Pacific to Talk to Patrons Through Newspaper Advertisements

The Union Pacific realizes that the good-will of its patrons is its greatest asset. It also believes that a successful railway is the greatest asset of any region or community which it serves.

The Union Pacific wants its patrons to feel that the railway is intimately interested in their welfare, and that the road is built, equipped and operated especially to serve their transportation needs.

The railway, like any other business, has its problems, some of which are not always thoroughly understood by the public. For that reason, the Union Pacific will present certain of these problems from time to time, and endeavor to explain them, using only such statistics as are readily understood.

Some of the topics suggested are:

The Misunderstood Railroad Earning Guaranty.
New Equipment and Capital Improvements for the Union Pacific.

What the Union Pacific Pays in Taxes.

The Railroad and the Farm.

Preventing Accidents at Grade Crossings.

Who Owns the Union Pacific?

Expediting the Movement of Freight Cars.

The Facts About Freight Rates.

Where the Union Pacific Dollar Goes.

Railroads—Safe to Ride On, Unsafe to Walk On.

It is planned to publish one of these short talks in the form of an advertisement about the first of each month in newspapers along the Union Pacific Lines. It is hoped that this method will tend to clarify some of the misconceptions about railway operation, and that it will serve to inform the public of the constructive things the Union Pacific is doing.

Constructive suggestions will be welcomed.

C. R. GRAY,
President.

TODAY—Pre-season anglers are getting "warmed up" for the grand spring opening, writes John D. Mueller of Chicago.

TOMORROW—George E. Burno of Washington writes of the Washington Arms Conference art collection now being displayed at the Corcoran National Art Gallery.

By JOHN D. MUELLER
For International News Service

CHICAGO, May 1.—These are days of eager, happy and enthusiastic anticipation among the followers of Ike Walton. The days when a fellow once again can feel the "kick" of a trout are drawing near. Though the woods of the north are yet snowbound, the streams are running free and the speckled beauties—the rainbow and the brown—all are waiting with open mouths.

Chicago's sporting goods stores, knowing that the blood of the fisherman tingles these pre-season days, are making a great bid for his cash. Tackle lying in splendor of color with some of the fishermen on display on the famed "Boul Mich" is on view on every hand. Little groups of men, old, middle aged and young, can be seen any day, gathered about these wondrously trimmed windows, admiring or criticizing the offerings designed to fool the wily trout.

About the clubs one can hear these springtime days marvelous tales of prowess. Many are the discussions—some of them wax heated—as to the best hour of the day, the best variety of lure—anything at all that has to do with the finny denizens of the water is worth an argument.

Out in the parks the fly men are getting in shape. They can find them any day, bright, noon, rod in hand, casting. The lines whir through the air merrily as the fly fishermen try out their "wings" on the lagoons. Rods of every variety are to be found there. Some of the more opulent fans have costly, built-to-order outfits. Most of the boys—there are some girls there, too—are working out with more moderate- priced equipment. But in the eyes of all there shines the same lustre—they're all waiting for the opening gong. The fly fisher, of course, has longer to wait than the others, for you can't fool a trout with a fly in non-bug weather. But there's nothing like getting warmed up.

The person who has missed participating in the first dash for the streams on the opening day of the season doesn't know what he has missed. That annual affair is much like the dashes read about in stories when land-seekers, after days of waiting, dashed across the line and into territory newly opened for claim by the federal government. Frequently there's much more rush than fish on that first day, but, somehow, none of the "regulars" ever miss the opening.

Up in Northern Wisconsin and Minnesota, where some of the most famous trout streams of the country are located, the fisherman is now preparing in earnest for that first day. He will be polishing his rod and oiling his reel every day from now until opening day. He'll be digging out the old knee boots of leather, or the old rubber hip boots, and admiring them at every spare moment. All day the exodus is in progress. They go by rail, motorcycle and automobile—the writer has seen some enthusiasts pedalling their way along hopelessly over muddy roads on bicycles—and at midnight they are ready.

Along the streams best known to the angler a myriad of camp fires burn all night long that first night. In Wisconsin fishing cannot start until May 1. But when May 1 comes they're there and ready.

From Chicago, Minneapolis, Detroit—every city and town of the section—they troop to their favorite streams for that great opening day. All day long, from the first gray of morning until darkness or train time drives them from the streams, they fish. Many of them wade the icy streams without boots. And in the northern sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan many of the streams are yet ice cold.

Some of them go home, chilled to the marrow, with creel empty. Many of them get but one or two. A few get the "limit." But, be the creel full or empty, all seem satisfied at the end of the first day that it was a day well spent.

DEVICES FOR HIDING "DOPE" Box for Peddling Morphine Disguised As a Book

The Narcotic Division of the U. S. Internal Revenue Bureau has come across some very curious contrivances for the concealment of drugs. By all odds the most remarkable of them is an elaborately made crucifix, resembling to the eye such a one as might be worn by a member of a religious order.

At the top of the crucifix is a ring, by which it is to be hung from the neck of the wearer. But, if this be turned to the left, it releases a little screw which enables the whole back of the cross to be swung away from the front part on a pivot at the base. The thing is then seen to be hollow and the back part to be a container for morphine tablets, of which it will accommodate a couple of dozen.

Dope addicts have many highly ingenious devices for the hiding of drugs on their persons. One of them, very convenient for emergency use, looks exactly like a fountain pen. But the butt of the instrument contains four little glass tubes, to hold morphine.

To keep drugs out of the prisons is a serious problem. In such places there are always a good many addicts, and relatives and friends resort to all sorts of clever schemes for getting the stuff to them. One of these, which for a long time escaped detection, was that of inserting morphine or cocaine in the bottom of a paper bag, where one edge of the paper overlaps another so as to furnish a safe container, with the help of a little manipulation and repasting.

Particularly odd is a kind of fraud that has become common, worked at the expense of addicts, to whom peddlers often sell harmless stuff under the pretense that it is the drug required. Thus sulphate of magnesia is sold for morphine, at $65 to $85 for an ounce can or bottle, the container being provided with a counterfeit import label and seal. Real commercial morphine comes to market in the form of 4-grain cubes, and the magnesia is put up in the same shape.

Hashish is fraudulently sold as powdered opium. It resembles the latter in appearance, but is comparatively cheap. This drug, which is a resin derived from the hemp plant of India, comes to this country from Manila, being, of course, smuggled. It is little known in the United States.

A pound of crude opium is worth $50 wholesale. Its bulk is so small relatively to its value that the smuggling of it cannot be prevented. Recently the Narcotic Division's agents found a number of "lines," in a consignment of that fruit, which were counterfeits, being made of smoking opium, coated with paraffin and painted a yellowish green.

The male bird of the species of the red-sided eel sits upon the eggs while the female enjoys herself elsewhere.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Sammie Littlebit, the rabbit boy, was gliding along on his roller skates striking out first with one paw and then the other. Sammie was really a very good skater for a small bunny chap.

"Hi, Sammie! Come and have a game of baseball!" croaked Bully No Tail, the frog boy. Bully was hopping around a field with Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels.

"Come on, Sammie!" barked Jackie Bow Wow, the puppy dog. "You can be pitcher if you like."

"All right—I'll play ball," answered Sammie. "But what'll I do about my roller skates?" he asked. "I can't pitch with them on."

"They would be all right for running bases," bleated Billie Wagtail, the goat, "but not so good for pitching. You might slip. Take off your roller skates, Sammie."

"Somebody might steal 'em," objected the rabbit boy. "Oh, I know what I'll do," he quickly said as he looked down the woodland path. "Here comes Uncle Wiggily. I'll get him to mind my roller skates while I play ball. Uncle Wiggily can sit and look at the game."

So, when the old rabbit gentleman hopped up to where Sammie was sitting on a stump, Sammie politely asked:

"Will you please mind my roller skates for me, Uncle Wiggily?"

"Mind your skates?" asked the rabbit gentleman. "Do you mean I am to do anything they tell me. Must I mind them if they tell me to?"

"Oh, I don't mean that way!" laughed Sammie. "I mean just watch them so no one will take them while I play ball."

"Yes, I'll watch your roller skates," said Uncle Wiggily. "Go on and play, Sammie."

So the ball game began. The animal boys ran and shouted in the green meadow and Uncle Wiggily sat on a flat, mossy green stump near which Sammie had taken off his roller skates.

"I wonder," said Uncle Wiggily slowly, "I wonder—I'm not so old—not so stiff—no one would see me—the boys are playing ball—nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzie isn't here—I'm going to try Sammie's roller skates!"

As he said this, his pink nose twinkled twice as fast.

Looking around among the trees, Uncle Wiggily made sure no one would see him. Then he sat down on the stump, and began fastening on his paws the roller skates of the rabbit boy.

"I'll just take a few turns up and down the path," said Uncle Wiggily to himself. "It will do my rheumatism good. Nurse Jane will never know about it."

The rabbit gentleman finished putting on the skates. Holding fast to the stump he stood up. Right here, in the woods, the path was hard and smooth and wide.

Down he sat—hard!

"I'm not hurt," said the bunny as he slowly arose. "I must be more careful next time."

Slowly and cautiously he started to skate down the woodland path. Over in the field the animal boys were playing ball. Uncle Wiggily began striking out and he was doing rather well, and beginning to feel a bit proud of himself.

All of a sudden there was a snickering laugh in the bushes.

"Ho! Ho!" said a voice. "You're too old to roller skate!" and out popped the Bob Cat. "Take off those skates and let me nibble your ears!" howled the Bob Cat.

Well, Uncle Wiggily was so surprised, thinking at first it was Nurse Jane laughing at him, that the bunny lost his balance. Down he sat, ker-bunko—very hard. His paws, with the hard steel roller skates on, stuck out in front of him, and they banged the Bob Cat on the nose.

"Ouchie! Wouchie! Wow!" howled the Bob Cat. "What are you doing?"

"Well, I am not skating; I am falling down!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "And if you want—"

"No, I don't want any more! My nose is too sore!" howled the bad chap, and away he ran, nibbling no ears that day.

Uncle Wiggily picked himself up.

"I guess I've had enough roller skating," he said. "But what little I did was too much for the Bob Cat." Then he took off the skates and watched the ball game until it was time to go home.

And if the lead pencil doesn't forget to put on its rubber when it goes swimming in the ink bottle, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Susie's piano practice.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

William Johnston, rated next to Bill Tilden in tennis, is making his preparations for an invasion of Europe this season, and he will have the well-wishes of a host of tennis followers. There have been few players who have so gained the genuine affection of the public. This is largely accounted for by reason of the fact that Johnston is exactly the same in victory or defeat. Nothing ruins his composure or can eradicate the well-known smile that flicks through either success or failure on the courts.

The impressive track and field victory gained by the University of California over Stanford University recently in their dual meet set all previous calculations and left the so-called "experts" and as to just how the points could be divided, gasping for breath. California's stock has had a decided impetus as the probable winner, for the third successive time, of the national intercollegiate to be held this year at Philadelphia. It has already been definitely decided by the athletic authorities of the institution to send a team east to defend the title.

One or two of the coast sports writers seem to be sweet on Gene Valla, a young player of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league. Fans have been advised to keep an eye on him as it may turn out he will be something of a sensation. With Kamm and O'Connell as recent products of the San Francisco club by way of major league material, it is more than likely that there are a lot of big league scouts with their eyes already focussed on Valla.

"Spider" Kelly, formerly of California and now of Arizona, than whom there have been no better second in a corner to a fighter, and few better lightweights when in the heyday of his prime, thinks he has a heavyweight who is destined to become the heavyweight champion of the world. His name is James Patrick Lester and both "Spider" and Lester now are in San Francisco, where the old veteran is going to show off his "find." We will reserve further comment until he has shown his wares.

With his reputation for not being a man with much stomach for punishment, Fred Fulton, champion heavyweight plasterer, seems to have gathered in considerable of it unto himself in his recent bout against Johnson. Fulton seems pretty definitely eliminated in connection with further talk of him meeting Dempsey. Johnson's showing was not such as to make anyone think he stands a chance with the champion.

The World Over

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Whatever enlargement of the ad O'Connell may have had by reason of the fact that the New York Giants paid $75,000 for him being kept down by Manager John McGraw through the medium of allowing O'Connell to warm the bench periodically. There is nothing like this to impress a young player that a club can get along without his services and delay the day when he might think he was entitled to more pay. It takes a lot of nerve to ask for a raise when you are not doing anything.

San Franciscans are preparing "Wolverton" day, in honor of a manager of the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, when he will be presented with a gift from fans. Wolverton has always been a square shooter and has been much to keep the game on a coast at a high level of efficiency and decency. He retired out six or seven years ago, and a comeback this year has been genuine pleasure to the followers of the national game. The "Silver Fox," as he is called, knows the game backwards and forwards and has a faculty of maintaining discipline through the sheer force of his personality. It is seldom that he has to resort to any punitive measures.

Just how weak the University of California is in the department of track may be inferred from the fact that present plans contemplate taking only two runners East to compete in the national intercollegiate track and field meet at Philadelphia. The entire team, with this exception, will be made up of men for the field events. Incidentally it may be said that the Californians have strong hopes of winning the most through the agency of its field men entirely, although it is hardly as cock-sure as it was last year that it would be returned the victor. Captain Muller has failed to come up to his form of last year. Muller recently announced his engagement to a young woman of Berkeley, and for want of any other reason, his indifferent showing is being ascribed to the greater attention to affairs of the heart than the arms and legs.

Present indications are that the legislators at Sacramento are favorably inclined toward the permitting of twelve-round bouts in the state, and if the bill gets the signature of the governor it then will go on the ballot for a decision of the voters. Whether or not it will get by this test is another matter which is being debated pro and con.

The Sport Crucible

By Davis J. Walsh
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, May 1.—Back to the old gossip of dissension within the ranks of the Detroit Tigers seems to have been borne out by the fact that Ty Cobb has done more judicious juggling of his lineup during the early games of the season. The result has been embarrassing to some of the prima donnas who were inclined to be just a bit debonaire in their need security. There seems to be nothing serious about a regular's job with a Tigers these days. In fact, it appears to have all the permanence of a temporary filling. No player is immune, not even the men who played side by side with Cobb in his old fire-eating ways under Hughie Jennings. As evidence of this, one of the first sufferer temporary demotion was Abby Veach, left fielder and one of the leading hitters of the outfit for the last ten years. Veach still can hit—he always did—but it is alleged that he had the misunderstanding with Cobb as a result, was displaced by Fothergill, a young hustler who led the International League in hitting last year. Fothergill is due in the Tiger outfield sooner or later. It may be sooner.

Johnny Bassler, the young catcher who hits them high, far and often, is another who appears to have lost favor with Cobb. He has been giving way to Woodall with disturbing frequency and seems to have a fight on his hands to retain his status of first string catcher. It may be that Bassler is being made a horrible example, just by way of discipline.

The most surprising move, however, is the use of the elderly George Cutshaw at second base from time to time. George was supposed to be all over and done with, this belief having been strengthened by the fact that Cobb went to some pains to get Del Pratt as his second baseman in a midwinter deal. However, Cutshaw and not Pratt started the season at second base.

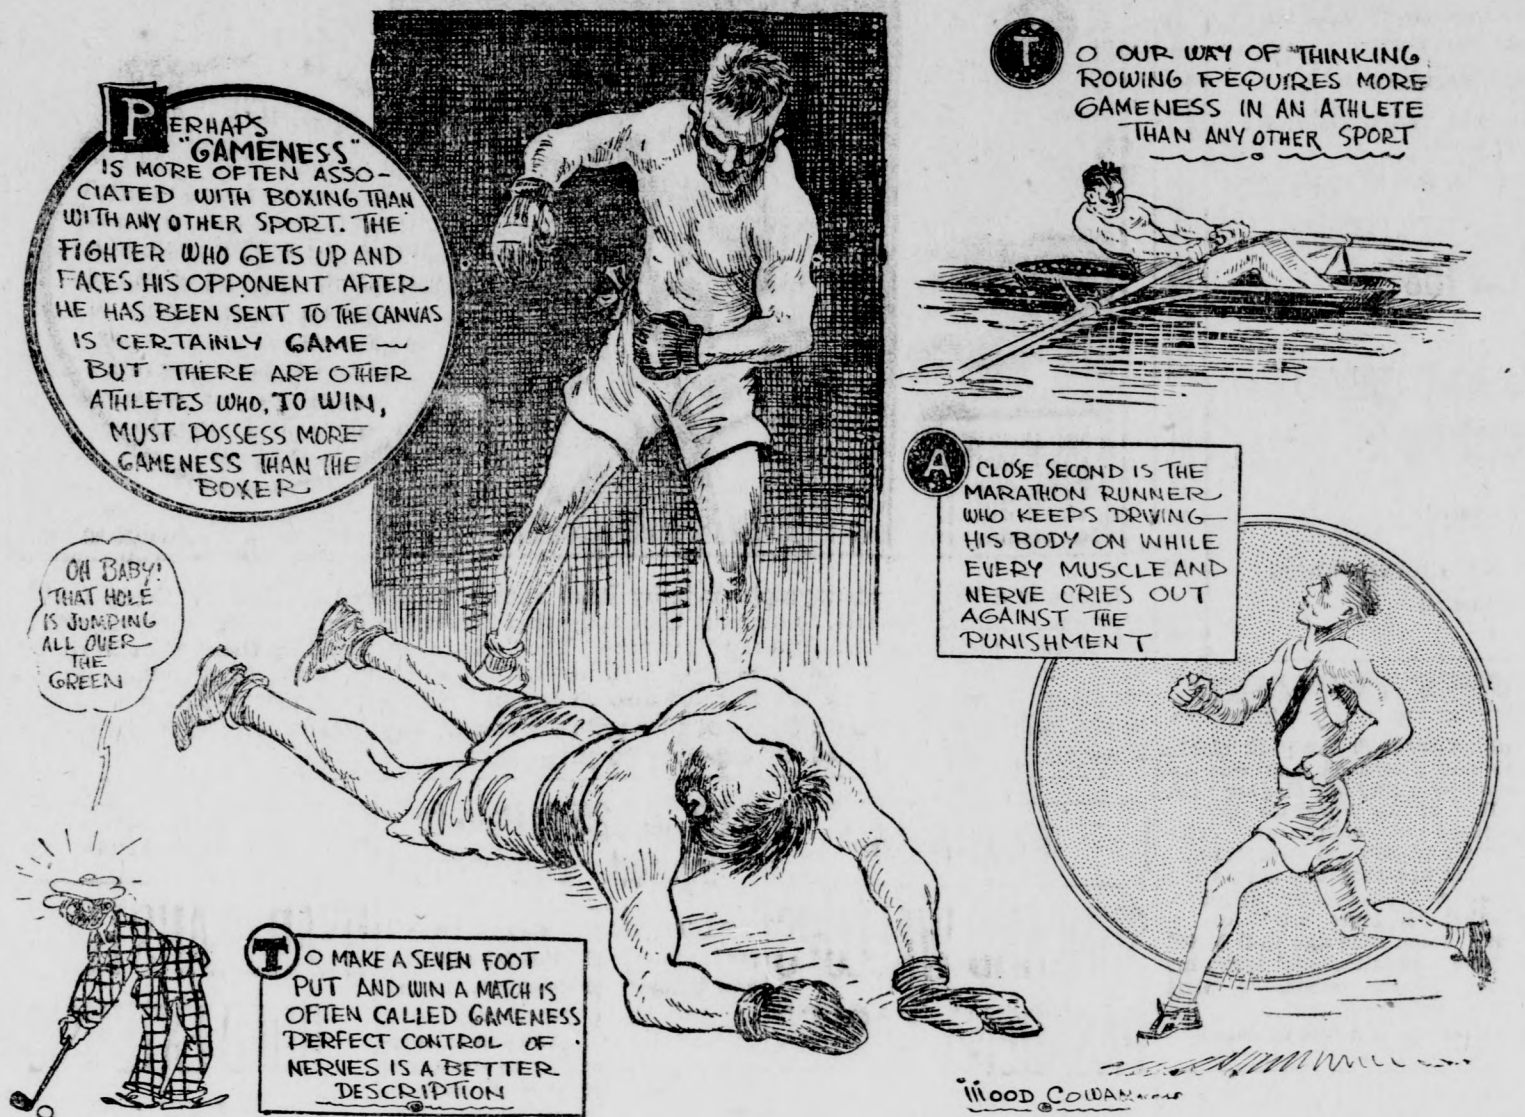

Everyone predicted that Cobb would prove an unpopular leader when he took hold of the Tigers last season. Perhaps these activities herald a delayed vindication of that belief.

Battling Siki Signs To Fight Carpentier

Yanks in Slaughter On Senators, 17-4

WASHINGTON, May 1.—The New York Yanks walked rough shod over three Senator pitchers here yesterday, emerging on the long end of a 17 to 4 score. "Murderers row" committed an awful crime upon the Washington hurlers, collecting seventeen hits, one a homer.

Greek music had its origin largely in Asia.

Gameness is an essential asset to the successful athlete.

Gameness is more often spoken of with reference to pugilism than any other sport, but there are other athletes who must possess more gameness to win than the boxer.

Imagination plays a big role in the matter of gameness. A beast will rush to certain death charging a band of well-armed hunters. He's game all right, but he possesses no reasoning power or imagination.

The bravest man is the coward who, possessed of a vivid imagination, drives himself on to what he has reasoned is certain defeat. He is game in every sense of the word.

A boxer might be sent to the canvas with such a stunning blow that he suffers no pain and, being unconscious to everything about him, struggle to his feet, to carry on the fight subconsciously, and be cheered on for his gameness.

He is not displaying the gameness of a marathon runner who keeps driving his body on while every muscle and nerve fiber cries out against the punishment, perfectly conscious of the greatest fatigue.

Nature has provided protection against pain. The harder the blow, the less we actually feel it. Pain limit is insensibility. A blow on the chin will knock a man out, but not hurt him to any degree. Jess Willard stumbled to his feet seven times after being floored seven times by Dempsey at Toledo. It was proclaimed the greatest display of gameness in all history. Yet Willard admits that he remembers nothing after the first knock-down.

Surely this is not gameness. The boxer who is sent to his knees by a solar plexus or other body blow, who is not even dazed, but is suffering intense pain as a result, and who then comes back for more is displaying gameness to a greater degree than Willard ever did. For he has his reasoning powers and can imagine what is still in store for him in the line of punishment at the hands of his adversary the moment he regains his feet.

His gameness. To make a seven-foot putt and win a match is often called gameness, but perfect control of nerves is a better description. No physical suffering is involved so the attempt ends in failure. Self-preservation is the first law of nature and to drive oneself on in defiance of that law and deliberately accept physical punishment requires gameness.

Wrestling for example. Many holds in the mat game are not only painful, but very dangerous. It takes a man with a strong heart to refuse to give up when his opponent has a toe hold clamped on him and to take a chance on squirming out of the grip at the risk of a broken foot.

Golf, tennis, baseball, billiards are a matter of mastering the nerves, that's all.

Rowing, it seems to us, is the one sport where gameness is most essential. In rowing every muscle of the body is called upon to function and added to this the athlete must work in co-ordination. He must give everything he has from start to finish. A marathoner can run his race as he pleases, but not the sculler. An outside force drives him on. Should he lag or falter, the entire combination of oarsmen is disrupted.

More oarsmen collapse from fatigue at the end of a race than athletes in any other sport.

Courage, grit and stick-to-it-iveness go into the make-up of a game man, whether he is putting up a fight to win in sport or in every-day life.

LANDIS' RULING STIRS BALL FANS

Vernon President Is Silent On French-Doyle Ruling Of Commissioner

SAN FRANCISCO, May 1.—President William H. McCarthy declined to comment at length today on the decision of Baseball Commissioner K. M. Landis in depriving Vernon of the services of Players French and Doyle because of alleged violation of the major-minor rules by the New York Americans and the Tigers.

He said that he had requested no action by Landis in the matter. McCarthy said that if Landis' action meant a general cleanup of baseball affairs and that the baseball commissioner intended to take summary action in all such cases, he approved of the measures taken. If aimed only at the Vernon club with a view to crippling it, he said the action was to be condemned.

McCarthy announced today that Pitcher Walter Mills of the Oakland club has been fined $50 and suspended for three days for his part in the uprising against Umpire Byron in the morning game Sunday between Oakland and Salt Lake.

Fans Are Excited
LOS ANGELES, May 1.—Discussion was rife in baseball circles here today over the action yesterday of Judge K. M. Landis, high commissioner of baseball, in declaring that shortstop Ray French and Pitcher Jess Doyle, both of the Vernon club, are free agents, but forbids them to play with Vernon or the New York Yankees. However, this deal failed, but French and Doyle had been prematurely turned over to Vernon. It is also said that at the time the deal fell through, Charles Lockhard, then business manager of the Los Angeles club, but now president of the Seattle aggregation, may have had information that Doyle and French were offered to Seattle by the New York club as late as January 22.

The whole case is declared to be the result of a row between the majors and minors on the draft question started last December when the majors decided that no major league club could turn players over to a minor league unless the minor league club to get the players recognized the draft.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Sometimes the dam breaks and then we have a Johnstown flood; sometimes it is merely a base hit in a pinch. Meusel opened the sixth inning at Washington with a home run to center and before the dust settled the Yankees ran up a football score of 17 to 4 on the Senators.

Stanley Ciolek finally was scored upon in the ninth, after pitching 27 scoreless innings, but he beat the Tigers, nevertheless, 4 to 2.

The hitting of Hauser and Miller gave the Athletics a 4 to 2 victory over the Red Sox after eleven innings, Naylor outlasting Ferguson in a pitchers' battle.

The Braves made merry at the expense of Head, Grant and Betts, and beat the Phillies to a rich, white froth, 13 to 3. Powell had a homer, a double and two singles.

McQuillan had slightly the better of Reuther in the box and the Giants scored another victory over the hapless Dodgers, 4 to 3. Kelly's triple in the sixth produced the winning run.

Eats Two Dozen Eggs, Bread and Coffee, Too

CALAIS, Maine, May 1.—George Mulholland, a local truckman, bet a friend that he could eat two dozen eggs.

So, George and his friend entered a restaurant and started the test.

"Boil 'em soft—about two and a half minutes," George told the counter man. "And you'd better let me have a cup of coffee, too, and some bread."

The last egg went down with a protest, but it went down, and so did a slice of bread, a cup of coffee and a glass of water.

"Well, that's one kind of a spree, anyway," declared Mulholland, as he pocketed his winnings and started for home.

Woman Bandit Works Rich Atlanta Street

ATLANTA, Ga., May 1.—Atlanta officers had a new quirk in holdup methods to engage their attention when a woman bandit, working with the deftness and bravado of an old hand, prowled through the fashionable Ponce de Leon avenue neighborhood, leaving several victims in her wake.

She worked with a male companion, but he was only her understudy. She was the leader.

She wore khaki clothes and for concealment pulled a soft hat well down over her eyes.

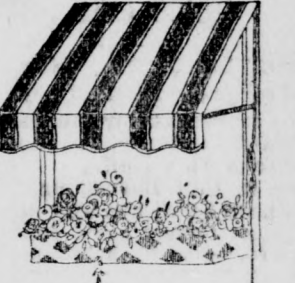

One couple was robbed of purse, rings and silver card and cigarette cases.

The female bandit was business-like and speeded her victims in the delivery of their belongings with a round, masculine oath.

Supports Charge That Sir A. Conan Doyle Is Showing Faked Pictures

Above is a "spirit" photograph made by Rev. Father de Heredia, of Holy Cross College, Worcester, Massachusetts, to support his charge that Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is showing "fake" ectoplasmic pictures in his American lectures. The "spirits" manifesting themselves in the pictures taken of Father Heredia and a group of his friends are the result of a simple trick in handling the negative. Father Heredia also shows an "ectoplasmic" effect, obtained by trick. SUNLAND WALLOPS PASADENA EAGLES

Win Sixth Game of Season
By 12 to 5 Score in Sizzling Contest

Sunland won its sixth consecutive game Sunday at Monte Vista park when the Pasadena Eagles fell victims to their onslaught. The game was good despite the one-sided score and plenty of thrills were furnished for the big crowd that turned out and packed the stands and all available automobile parking space. Monte Vista park was crowded with spectators who had spent the morning there.

The Eagles started off with a southpaw pitcher that looked like the goods, but Sunland got to him after his support had staked him to a three run lead. Coming from behind in the long suit of the Sunland crew and this was no exception.

Sunland led off in the first inning and was safe on Bush's error. Stagner struck out, Snow going to third on Dewey's single. Lee doubled, scoring both. Jones struck out. Curry singled, scoring Lee, and was out trying to take second. Three runs and a world of confidence for the Eagles.

Sunland went out in order in their half, except for Waite's double, which was wasted. In the second the Eagles could do nothing with Siler's delivery after their slaughter in the first. He seemed to have settled down to the day's chores.

Sunland Ties Score
In the third Sunland went in with lots of pep and got their runs back, tying the score. Bush opened and struck out. Waite doubled in his favorite spot, the left field trees. Slaters Bradburn ran for him and promptly stole third. Slaters has one bad habit to which he has become addicted until it is threatening to ruin the mental health of opposing pitchers. If he doesn't steal home at least once every game and several other bases several times he counts the day lost and goes home talking to himself. Before Lee's scattering thoughts could hold a convention Slaters galloped home under his nose and Lee is still trying to figure out what it is all about.

Phillips was out at first. La Fleur was safe when Jones dropped his pop fly. Leon tripled, scoring La Fleur. Siler was safe on Schworer's error. Leon scored on this bobbie. Schworer had plenty of time but was too anxious to get his man and threw the ball in the dirt at first. Before Lee's scattering thoughts could hold a convention Slaters galloped home under his nose and Lee is still trying to figure out what it is all about.

The Eagles did nothing in their half, but Sunland pushed over four fingers in the last half. Slaters was hit by a pitched ball, took second on a passed ball and stole third. Bush singled. Slaters scored. Waite went out at first and Phillips was safe on Schworer's low throw to first. Bush taking second and scoring when Jones threw the ball away trying to get him at third. La Fleur took second on a passed ball. La Fleur was thrown out at first, Schworer to Jones. Leon walked. Phillips scored when Dewey threw the ball into the pasture lands trying to get Leon at second. Siler doubled, scoring Leon. Brandstetter out. Four runs and the ball game.

No more scores were made until the last of the sixth, when Sunland forgot they had a four run lead and sent in four more. Waite fled out to Haver. Phillips was safe on Schworer's error. La Fleur doubled, scoring Phillips and Leon struck out. La Fleur stole third. Siler tripled, scoring La Fleur and Brandstetter walked. Petrotta also drew a pass, putting three on with two down. Slim Bradburn singled, scoring Siler and Brandstetter. Petrotta was thrown out trying to SACRAMENTO, May 1.—Workers injured in the logging and saw mill industry in California during the past three years have been paid a total of $1,106,025 in compensation, according to the quarterly report of Will J. French, chairman of the industrial accident commission, which was filed with Governor Richardson late yesterday.

French reported 283 permanent injuries in the lumber industry and 9,416 temporary injuries. The report also showed that approximately 40,000 men are employed in California's logging camps and saw mills.

Witnesses to Tell Of Shooting Scrape

FRESNO, Cal., May 1.—At least fifty witnesses will be summoned before the Fresno county grand jury Wednesday in connection with the shooting of Walter Osterhoudt, raisin grower, Saturday by either Mr. or Mrs. N. Torosian at Monmouth, a few miles east of here, Frank Davis, foreman of the grand jury, announced yesterday.

Osterhoudt was shot when he, with a large party of Sunland Raisin Growers, called at the ranch of G. Kukuligan, an Armenian grower, seeking his signature to a new contract. He was shot through the arm and his knee cap was shattered.

take third on the play. Four runs. With Phillips catching and Waite at third in the seventh the Eagles managed to corral a run. Knight struck out and Snow singled through short. Stagner was safe when Petrotta dropped his fly. Petrotta has been going good, but had an off day. Snow went to second on this juggle. Dewey singled infield, moving the runners up a notch. Three on, one down and the balloon ready to ascend. Lee sacrificed Snow home and Knight was run down on the third base line. One run and some relief for the home boosters.

Sunland could do nothing with Jones' pitching in the last half. Jones is a tunnel ball slinger and fooled the boys just one inning. In the last of the eighth Sunland added one tally to show him that they played no favorites. But the Eagles are not particular, either, as they showed by grabbing three runs off Slim in their half of the eighth.

Slim Bradburn relieved Siler to start the eighth and ran into a flock of trouble right away, but with a seven run lead he had nothing much to worry about. Jones got a life at first on Brandstetter's error. Curry fled out to Leon. Jones took second on a passed ball. Schworer was safe when Phillips dropped his third strike and failed to get him at first. Jones going to third. Waite knocked down Haver's single, but failed to get his paws on it in time to throw Haver out. Jones scored on this boot. Knight doubled, scoring Schworer. Haver holding third. Snow squeezed Haver home. Knight was thrown out at third. Stagner was hit by a pitched ball, but Dewey fled out to Leon. Three runs and some oops.

Sunland got their last run in the last half of this inning. Siler dropped a Texas leaguer back of short. Brandstetter singled. Siler going to third. Dutch stole second. Petrotta also dropped a Texas leaguer back of short, scoring Siler. Brandstetter was thrown out at the platter trying to score on this hit. Slim Bradburn forced Petrotta at second, and stole second a minute later on the pitcher's wind up. Bush fled out.

The Eagles couldn't solve Slim's slants in the ninth and went out in order, Lee and Curry at first and Jones by the strike out route, and the battle was over and Sunland had another scalp, dangling from its belt. Can't somebody get nine ball players to take this crew? It's getting notorious. Sunday rolls around and Sunland rolls up another win and everybody starts a new week with a yawn.

Score by innings:
Pasadena Eag. 300 000 130—5
Sunland003 404 01x—12

BURBANK

HEAR PLANS FOR ROAD EXTENSION

Eight Street in Van Nuys
May Be Extended and Paved to Burbank

A road project is under way that affects Burbank vitally, and that is the proposition to extend what is known as Van Owen or Eighth street in Van Nuys, direct to Burbank, making of it a paved boulevard.

The road is already paved to Sherman way, a mile and a half this side of Van Nuys, it was pointed out by Horace Haskin of that city, when he was in Burbank recently in the interest of putting through such a project. He stated that all property owners along the proposed route were enthusiastic over the idea.

From Sherman way to Burbank, Mr. Haskin explained, the road lies within the Los Angeles city boundaries. He stated that a petition is now before the City Council requesting that this road be extended as far as Lankershim boulevard, and he feels confident that the petition will be granted.

Should this action be taken by the Los Angeles "city fathers," a stretch of approximately two and one-half miles would remain, entirely within the Burbank city limits. It was the matter of paving this stretch that Mr. Haskin placed before Secretary Colburn of the Chamber of Commerce. He has also brought the matter to the attention of Mayor Crawford and other city officials and feels confident that a general endorsement of the project will be received.

Locals and Personals
Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Farley are now enjoying their beautiful new stucco home near the foothills, on Sunset Canyon drive and Providencia avenue. "The home is a jewel of workmanship, in a perfect natural setting," says Mrs. Farley, who is extremely enthusiastic over it. "The design is old colonial and the living room is 18 by 28 feet, with a big tile fireplace at one end. The entire house is finished in walnut, with which a beautiful plaster cornice blends artistically with the soft tones of the walls."

The sun parlor of the Farley home overlooks the valley, commanding marvelous vistas. The home is heated by the unit electrical control system.

Among those who have recently moved to Burbank are Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Arnold of Eagle Rock, who have purchased a home at 232 Grismer avenue. Mr. Arnold is the district representative of Blake, Moffitt & Towne, of Los Angeles, and after looking over several sections, chose Burbank as the most desirable both as a home place and a convenient business location.

Burbank was well represented at the recent Community Service play held in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, Glendale. Among those who attended this gay "Fun Revue" were Mrs. Dryden and a group of Los Angeles friends.

Warden Demands Film Of State Penitentiary

SAN QUENTIN, Cal., May 1.—Demand was made yesterday by Warden James T. Johnston of the state prison here upon a motion picture company for the film of a picture made by a plane which circled over the prison Sunday, resulting in the machine being fired upon by guards. One of the several shots fired is reported to have shattered its propeller blade causing a thousand foot nose dive into a nearby marsh. A. C. Cuttenbach, the pilot, and John Stout, photographer, escaped injury. Warden Johnston announced he would also refer the matter to the attorney-general for criminal prosecution. Alleged airplane smuggling into the prison of dope resulted in orders to the guards to fire on planes violating rules against flying over the prison enclosure.
